

She's Always Right

By Daniel Varona

You're pretty, good looking,
Smart, and wrapped in class

You're cooler than him
And hotter than them

You listen, smile
And laugh at their denial

You speak respectful
And tactfully reject him

She's a sight
And somehow she's always right

She's a rebel
She's got no plans to settle

She believes
There's something more to this

She's a sight
And somehow she's always right

The game is long
But that's the one she plays

I hoped she watched me
Fall, get hit, get up and play to win

Our story is twisted
Confusing and amusing

We could've done the script, but we improvised this thing
It's messy, excessive, but only 'cause we felt it

She's a sight
And somehow she's always right

She's a rebel
She's got no plans to settle

She believes
There's something more to this

She's a sight
And somehow she's always right